FEBRUARY 2016 NEWSLETTER

DINNER MEETING: WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, from 6:00 pm

Dolores Meade, M.Ed., psychotherapist

Stephen Lewis Foundation: Grandmothers helping African grandmothers to raise their AIDS-orphaned grandchildren

The Grandmothers' Campaign is a collection of about 250 groups of grandmothers (and grand others) who raise money to support those who are affected by the AIDS pandemic in sub-Saharan Africa. These grandmothers have lost their children to AIDS and are caring for their grandchildren, often with no support. The campaign — unusual among philanthropic organizations in that it supports grassroots organizations and offers flexible and minimum bureaucracy — donates through the Stephen Lewis Foundation and raises awareness in our own communities of the situation facing these women.

Dolores Meade, who has an M.Ed. from McGill in counselling, began a grandmothers' group in Hudson/St-Lazare in 2007 and is currently the volunteer regional liaison for Quebec. Upon becoming a grandmother, Dolores realized that, merely by being born in Canada, she had the privilege to love her children and enjoy the company of her grandchildren. That less fortunate grandmothers needed to take on so much responsibility and with so little support moved her greatly. Dolores will highlight these differences and give insight both into the situation in Africa and the role and contribution of Canadian grandmothers.

NEXT MONTH – WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16

Dr. Joe Schwarcz, McGill science professor, author, radio-show host

Celebrity Science: From Suzanne Somers to Dr. Oz

Dr. Joe, no stranger to the UWCM, is Director of McGill University's Office for Science and Society, which is dedicated to demystifying science and separating sense from nonsense. Professor Schwarcz has received numerous awards for teaching chemistry and for interpreting science for the public. He also hosts "The Dr. Joe Show" on Montreal radio.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Dear Members,

We have officially entered the new year and have been blessed so far with a fairly mild winter. Moments like these are great, in that they can make us appreciative of little things. We can so often forget the positive side of things amid the hectic pace and moving pieces of life. Truth is that we are very lucky to have numerous opportunities and friendships. I certainly feel blessed to have joined this club and to have the occasion of interacting and learning from this group of great women. My role as President is to lead our group, protect it and ensure its growth. I will continue to do so with my heart in 2016.

The club has been around for close to 90 years and I hope that friendships and respectful bonds are made in such a way as to protect the club, the sisterhood, the image and reputation, as well as the ambience within. The club must remain a place that we all love to visit and of which we can be proud to be members. I see our club slowly evolving, with new members joining — this is exciting. I hope everyone sees our club this way, sees the collaboration, harmony and care that we show for each other. We are leaders by example inside and out. We must continue supporting each other and our common mission in order for the club to survive and thrive. We can make our predecessors proud and continue their legacy of hard fights to have rights and our own Club. Our mission statement of “Social interaction, social responsibility and growth of women in all areas of life” means that we foster the development of friendships and associations between women eager to share experiences and interests. It means we advocate for women worldwide in their pursuit of higher education and socio-economic stability, and we enable our members to develop and use their expertise to effect change and promote the improvement of the status of women and children everywhere through the belief in the importance of lifelong education. I hope that every member can somehow play a role this year. This, too, will help ensure our growth, not just as a local group, but as a global group where we are all united by the bond of identity: being a woman. We should all be proud of the common solidarity that unites us all. As more fortunate women, we can use our knowledge for the betterment of others.

I hope each and every member will be inspired to make this effort — for 2016, for our club, and for women everywhere. Let's be the best that we can be and contribute to the change that we all wish for women around the world.

Kindest regards,

Maya Bergeron-Metivier

President

March 8 — International Women's Day

FOUNDATION

The fundraising committee of the Foundation was thrilled with the success of our raffle at the December dinner meeting. Great prizes were won — and shared!! — and Roxane Stanners was a wonderful emcee who sweet-talked members into taking a chance at the lovely prizes. A whopping $790 was raised in just one night.

Don't put off buying your tickets to the National Circus School of Canada performance at Montreal's TOHU Arts Theatre on June 2. Bring your friends, neighbours, children, grandchildren! Contact me today!

ADVOCACY / COMMUNITY

Sunday, February 14 - An annual memorial march for missing and murdered women will be held at 3 pm starting outside the St-Laurent metro station.

Tuesday, March 8 - The Organization of Women of Diverse Origins is holding its annual demonstration and march to celebrate International Women's Day. This will take place near Concordia University after work hours (the exact time and venue to be announced).

Please join me and other UWCM members at either (or both!) of these important events to show your support. Contact me for further information.

CFUW News

- The CFUW webinar series pilot program's third seminar, "Early Learning and Childcare" is scheduled for this month or next.
- We have received the new Advocacy Toolkit, including proposed resolutions for amendment at the 2016 AGM.
- Our expert panel is recommending to the federal government that all Canadians should have equal access to publicly funded, doctor-assisted dying, with no age limitations.
- As we emerge from a month of awareness on violence against women, the CFUW implores us to consider that this problem continues year-round, all over the world.
- Since the adoption of the CFUW policy on Increased Funding for Aboriginal Education, the Quebec Council has focused on improving members' knowledge of issues pertaining to Aboriginal education in Quebec.
- As to the recent speech from the throne, the CFUW was pleased to hear the promise of serious action to be taken on climate change and on missing and murdered Indigenous women. It noted, however, the absence from the speech of child-care and pay-equity legislation, and urges the government to take bold action on these and other issues.
